CONTENTS AND ARRANGEMENT

Scope

This Dictionary Catalog contains, in one alphabetic sequence, author, title, and subject entries for monographs, serials, and analytics as cataloged for the main collection of the National Agricultural Library and for its Bee Culture and Beltsville Branches. Descriptive information, including notes, has been reproduced as it appears in the card catalog. Library call numbers are also given. Tracings, however, have been omitted. In the card catalog, many tracings appear on the backs of cards; in some cases, changes in tracings have been made only on the main entry card. To have included incomplete or incorrect information in the published work would have been more misleading than helpful.

Information cards, such as those describing the history of a corporate body or geographic area, have been reproduced from the card catalog. Also included in the printed volumes are author and subject cross-references.

At the end of the Dictionary Catalog, there appears, in a separate alphabetical arrangement, a list of translations of articles in the Library collection. This file consists of main entry only under author or, if the article has no author, under its title. Translations of articles are not classified. They are identified by a consecutively assigned number shown in call number position.

Policies

The changes in policy and practice made throughout the years of its development are reflected in the Dictionary Catalog. The following basic tools were in use when this catalog was discontinued in December, 1965. They had been modified, interpreted, and supplemented in various ways to meet the changing needs of the Library:

A.L.A. Cataloging Rules for Author and Title Entries. Second Edition, 1949.

Rules for Descriptive Cataloging in the Library of Congress, 1949.

Scheme of Classification for the United States Department of Agriculture Library. Edition 5, 1940.

U. S. National Agricultural Library. Subject Heading List. Preliminary Edition, 1963.

A.L.A. Rules for Filing Catalog Cards, 1942.

Editing

The publisher provided an editorial staff to review the card catalog before publication. Working from guidelines provided by the Library, this staff concentrated on withdrawing obsolete cards from the catalog and checking its filing arrangement.

More than 1,500,000 cards were examined. With limited time to perform such a large task, complete accuracy cannot be assured. Only the most glaring instances of error or illegibility warranted correcting or retyping cards. No attempt could be made to recatalog old entries to bring them in line with current practices.

Filing Arrangement

Catalog Entries

Within any given part of the catalog, the page display of entries will make their arrangement obvious. However, a statement of some of the Library's basic filing practices will facilitate use of the catalog as a whole.

1. General order of entries is:

Author
Periodical title
Periodical title as author
Subject
Title

Single letters, whether abbreviations or initials, file at the beginning of that part of the alphabet.

History cards precede entries of the organization described. "See also" references follow the related entries.

Entries for editions of works are filed with the earliest first.

2. Government entries for departments, bureaus, offices, etc., in the more familiar languages are generally arranged under the jurisdiction by the key word following the preposition. For example:

U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

U. S. Bureau of the Census.

U. S. Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations. Those in the less familiar languages are arranged word by word.

Contents and Arrangement

3. Subdivisions of corporate bodies are also generally filed on this key-word principle. There are known inconsistencies in the catalog, though. Notable examples are entries for bodies whose names begin with the following terms and include a prepositional phrase: Service, College, Commission, Committee, Conference, Institute, and School.
4. Subject entries are subarranged by author. Generally, the filing order is as follows:
  - Subject without subdivision
  - Subject with geographic subdivision
  - Subject with subject subdivision and inverted subject headings interfiled, e.g.,
    - Milk. Acidity.
    - Milk. Care and handling.
    - Milk, Certified.

Milk, Citric acid in.

Milk. Composition.

Subject followed by qualifying term in parentheses.

Translations of Articles

The author's name is listed in the form in which it appears on the translation. Entries are interfiled whether or not forenames are spelled out and whether or not a joint author appears in the heading.

Inquiries

Cataloging and classification questions about the entries in the Dictionary Catalog should be addressed to the Chief, Division of Catalog and Records, National Agricultural Library, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.
